

VIRGINIANS HAVE ARRIVED ON SCENE

Delegation From Old Dominion Will Hold Caucus To-Day, AMONG FIRST ARRIVALS

Headed by "Dynamite Ed" Perry, Oklahomans Come In 600 Strong.

Chicago, June 16.—Headed by "Dynamite Ed" Perry, its chairman, the Oklahoma delegation arrived to-day. More than 600 are in the party, and the first arrivals, headed by a brass band, marched through the streets to their hotel, waving Roosevelt banners and singing a Roosevelt "Houn Dawg" song.

The New Jersey delegation also paraded behind a band when it arrived. It swung down the street singing:

"Rah, rah, rah! Who are we? We are the delegates from New Jersey."

Are we in it? Just you wait. Till we give Teddy twenty-eight straight."

The delegation came into town already organized. Virginia's delegation arrived late in the afternoon, and will caucus to-morrow.

The rival delegations from Massachusetts both came in to-day and opened headquarters in the same hotel.

Roosevelt delegates stated to-night that there would be no change in the complexion of the Massachusetts delegation as to support of the rival candidates.

There will be eighteen firm for Roosevelt and eighteen firm for Taft, said Charles L. Baxter, of the Roosevelt delegation.

The Connecticut Taft delegation of fourteen arrived, bringing with them nearly 100 enthusiasts, including the alternates. Republican State leaders and visitors to the convention.

Governor Robert P. Bass, a Roosevelt supporter, accompanied the Taft delegation from that State.

The Nevada delegation, with its six delegates instructed for Taft, arrived to-day.

SPEAKER BYRD OUT OF POLITICS

made chairman of the Committee for Courts of Justice. This gave him an opportunity to take the front rank in the body, which he did without delay. So it was that when Mr. Byrd in 1905 he was the choice of the House for Speaker. In 1910 and 1912 he was again given this position, each time without opposition. No one has spoken of measuring swords with him at the next session.

Activity of mind is the quality which perhaps the most impresses the members of the Legislature with the Speaker. His decisions are instantaneous. Even if reading or writing at the moment, he attains an immediate grasp on the situation. The impression is left of a habit of direct and concentrated thought.

While these political associations have been pleasant to Mr. Byrd, he has found them to be very unremunerative. The $200 salary quickly vanishes in the living expenses of a legislative session, and the earnings of other times have to be drawn upon. Having had four cases of this sort of thing, Mr. Byrd has decided that he will eschew politics and hereafter regard the science of government with a detached and indifferent eye.

He has often been mentioned as a possible future candidate for Governor. For next year's campaign he is pledged to the support of Henry Carter Stuart.

The Byrd Liquor Law.

During his first session as Speaker—in 1908—Mr. Byrd was the author of a bill which has come to be widely known as the Byrd liquor law. It was an extension of the Mann liquor law, which made its author Governor of Virginia. This measure went further than the Mann bill by enforcing compulsory prohibition in communities of less than 500 inhabitants, excepting as to distilleries and as to summer resorts and in dispensary towns. Further, it prohibited the sale of liquor between the hours of midnight and 5 o'clock A. M. anywhere in the State, and forbade its sale in clubs in prohibition places.

Two years later there were amendments to the Byrd law, increasing the State license tax, and wiping out the provision for the sale of "near beer," a mild sort of beverage which was put by the Senate in the original bill of which he was patron as a sort of

"Berry's for Clothes"

Battle of Bunker Hill, June 17th, 1775. "Times change and we change with them."

In those days everything in the nature of luxury was imported, and there are still some people for whom "imported" has a mystic charm and they buy lots of things, particularly cloth, sold them under the name "imported," really made right in the United States, and better for it.

To-day a special display of our lowest priced suits, $13, and our silk-lined top-notchers at $35—American in every detail.

Also our suits at $30 to $40, made from genuine imported fabrics.

base deceiver to the stomach of the citizen of the dry community.

Another problem to which Mr. Byrd has directed his attention is the matter of a better adjustment of the burdens of taxation. Under the provisions of a bill which he helped to support in 1910, a Tax Commission was created, of which he was made a member. This commission worked for two years, and at the beginning of the past session its conclusions were made the basis of the keynote speech by Mr. Byrd in accepting the Democratic nomination for re-election as Speaker. But it was found impossible to pass any bill which would deal effectively with the subject.

The Byrd primary bills of 1910 and 1912 have been widely discussed. The former died on the calendar. After two years of further study the Speaker evolved a measure which he succeeded in having passed by the House last session, but which was so amended in the Senate as to cause its patron to refuse to recognize it when he met it in the corridor. However, the House agreed to the amendments rather than take nothing, and the law is an untitled experiment on the statute books. The withdrawal from politics of Speaker Byrd will arouse much interest throughout the State. There will be a great deal of speculation as to his successor.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF DOUBLE CRIME

Frank Chunn Murders Young Woman, Then Ends His Own Life.

Salisbury, N. C., June 16.—After attending church in Salisbury together to-night, Frank D. Chunn shot and instantly killed Miss Burnadette Rousche and immediately sent a ball rushing through his own brain, and death ensued half an hour later. Chunn was twenty-five years old, and a son of Cleo Chunn, of Washington. His sweetheart whom he killed was eighteen years old, a well known stenographer, and a daughter of Mrs. George Rousche, of Salisbury, and was well known here. Jealousy is said to have caused the double tragedy. The shooting was done with a .25 caliber pistol. One ball went through the heart of the young woman and another through the brain of her lover. It is said she had killed him lately.

The killing occurred on the front porch of an uncle of the dead girl, and there were no eye-witnesses. The coroner is making an investigation. On account of the prominence of the parties and high standing of both families, the affair is of great interest.

Wreckers Recover Cotton.
Beaufort, N. C., June 16.—Wreckers working on the British steamer Thistleroy, Galveston to Liverpool, wrecked on Lookout Shoals early this year, have recovered sixty bales of cotton in good condition. It is believed several thousand more bales will be recovered.

RUMOR OF BREAK AND STAMPEDE CAUSES PANIC IN TAFT'S CAMP

with the square deal was in the field; the party as well as the country backed up. It was now a fight worth while. It was a fight that meant something."

The Mississippi letter, as given out, bore the names of Charles Banks, W. P. Looker, Percy W. Howard, Daniel W. Gary and Wesley Crayton. This letter said in part:

"We, the undersigned delegates to the Republican National Convention from the State of Mississippi, having, after full conference and discussion among ourselves, and having only in view the welfare of the Republican party and of the nation, and fully appreciative of your known stand for a square deal to all men, irrespective of race or creed, and believing that in the crisis which now confronts the Republican party you are the only man that can lead it to victory in November, have this day decided to tender your support in the national convention as the nominee of the Republican party for President of the United States."

This Mississippi letter was quickly followed by a report that the two delegates from Hawaii, instructed for Taft, had decided to join hands with the California delegation in support of Colonel Roosevelt. This report, later was denied by the delegates, who declared they would abide by their instructions.

When the hotel corridors began to murmur gossip of a "Roosevelt landslide" the Taft headquarters were spurred to activity. Director McKinley, Senator Penrose, William Barnes, Jr., of New York, and several other Taft leaders talked over the matter, and Director McKinley instituted a rapid fire investigation of individual cases of desertion which the Roosevelt statements embraced. After several hours of discussion, Director McKinley decided that the Roosevelt claims were unfounded except as to two delegates, Charles Banks, of Mississippi, and Timothy Woodruff, of New York, and the situation unchanged.

"On the contrary," says Mr. McKinley, "there are over 100 delegates in this convention who have been instructed for Dr. Roosevelt, and who will only vote for him because of such instructions. President Taft has votes enough to nominate him on the first ballot."

McKinley Attacks Colonel.
Director McKinley in a statement attacked the work of former President Roosevelt and his managers.

"The first work of Theodore Roosevelt on arrival in this city was the assertion that Chicago is a poor place for men to try to steal in." Notwithstanding this fact, Mr. Roosevelt has been busily engaged throughout Sunday, after attending church in the morning, in attempting to steal delegates away from President Taft, although these delegates are solemnly instructed and pledged to support the President.

"At a conference last night with 'Bill' Filan, of Pittsburgh, within four hours after he had made his denunciation of alleged theft, Colonel Roosevelt agreed to a plan whereby he was to accept a personal appeal to Taft-instructed delegates to break their instructions and vote for him."

Announcement of Timothy Woodruff's defection was made by E. A. Van Valkenburg, of Philadelphia.

"Colonel Roosevelt," authorized me to state to the newspapers that former Lieutenant-Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, head of the Kings county delegation of New York, has just for Roosevelt," said Van Valkenburg. Mr. Woodruff states that the gross and indefensible injustice showing in the unseating of the legally elected delegates from Texas and Washington has forced him to adopt this course. Mr. Woodruff stated to Colonel Roosevelt that he is convinced that members of the national committee who voted for these outrages did so knowing full well that President Taft cannot win. He therefore absolved from any obligation to further support a candidate whose managers have demanded that they have not the good of the Republican party at heart."

Comes With Petitions.
Another statement announced that A. J. Hayes, Jr., law professor at Cornell University, who, one of the Roosevelt contesting delegates from the Fifth Georgia district, was received by the Constitution to-night, saying that five Georgia Taft delegates in a signed statement had gone over to the Roosevelt faction. The telegram reads:

"Five Georgia Taft delegates in signed statement came to Roosevelt, more to follow."

DEATHS

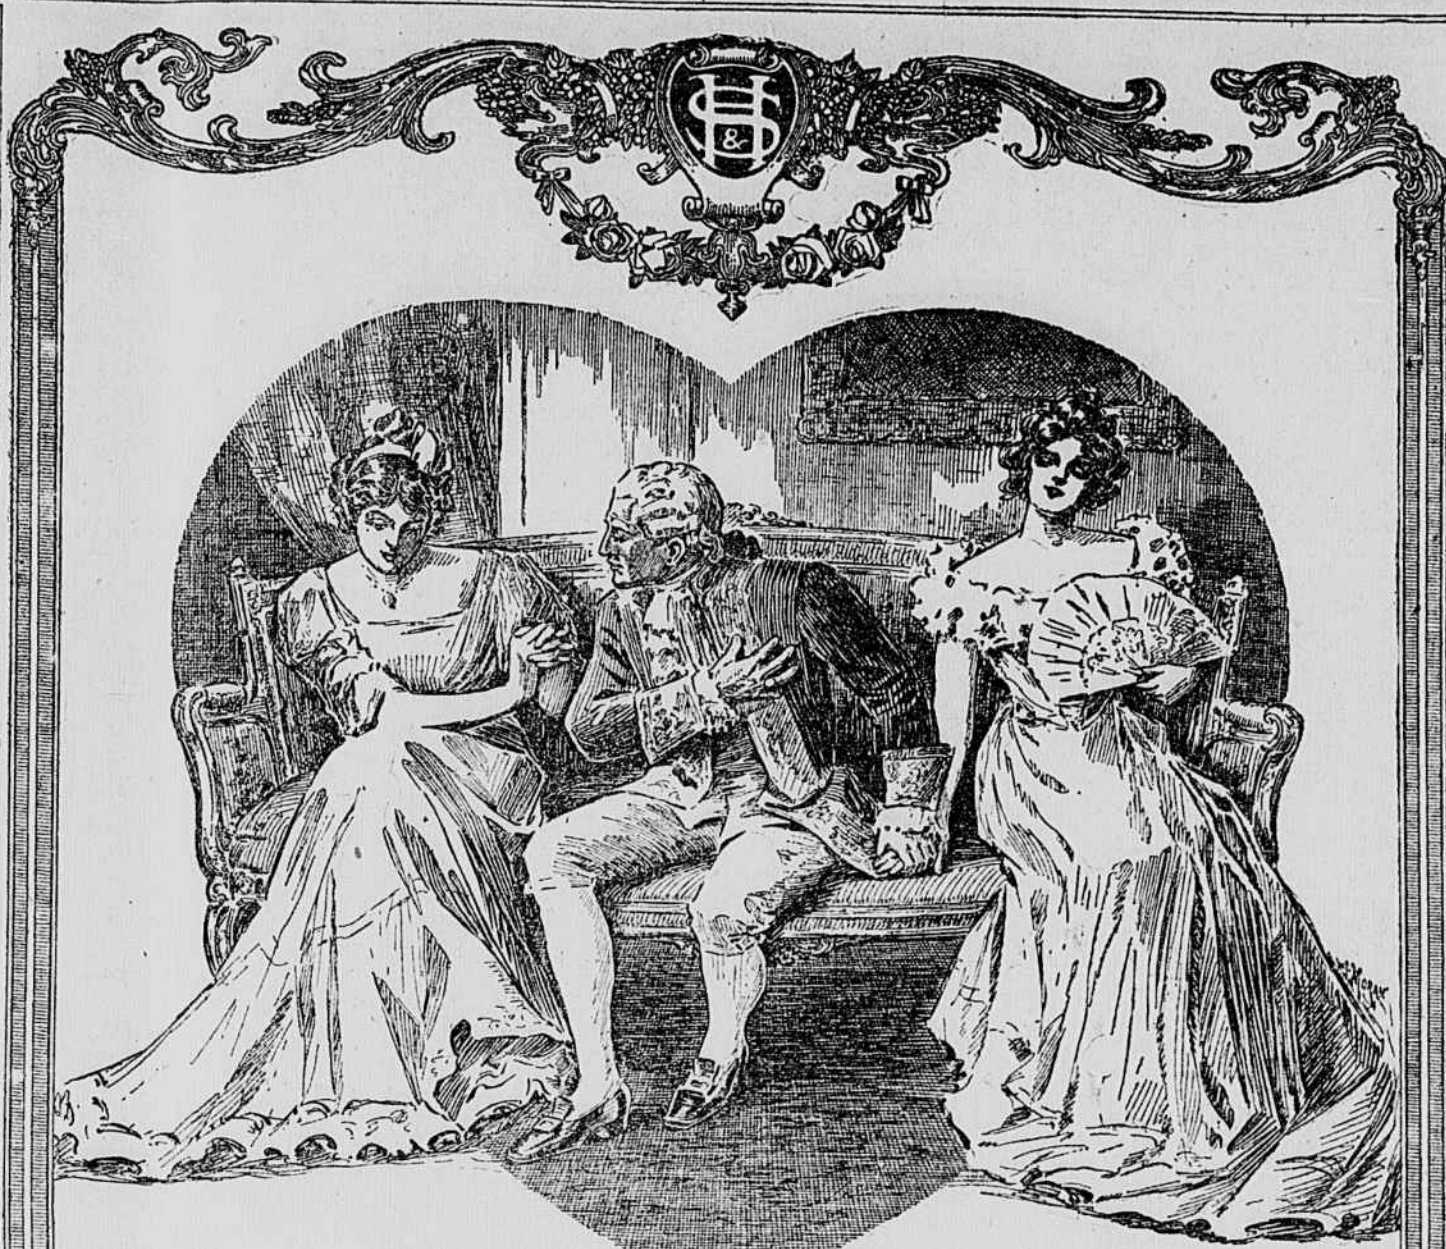

Hughes's Boom Takes Shape.
Chicago, June 16.—A movement in behalf of Justice Charles E. Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, as a compromise candidate for President, took definite form here to-day. William H. Hughes, of New York, former State superintendent of insurance, and a close friend of Justice Hughes, is its leading spirit.

"No man, particularly a man with Justice Hughes's ideas of civic duty, can refuse to lead the people of the nation in a crisis such as the present one," he said when reminded Justice Hughes would not permit his name to be used.

Mr. Hughes and his associates took pains to make it clear that they had come here without the knowledge of Justice Hughes.

"I did not come to Chicago as an opponent of Colonel Roosevelt, whom, as an exponent of progressive principles, I shall support should he be nominated," said Mr. Hughes.
